

NEXT WEEK IS LITERACY WEEK!

Instead of one night, this year students will celebrate literacy all week in their classrooms!

The Swallow Education Foundation has teamed up with Orange Hat Publishing and Books & Company, to bring literacy fun right into our classrooms, February 8th-11th.

Next week, authors will join students in every grade via Zoom! They will share what motivated them to become an author, what inspires them to write, and how learning to read and write is key to their success as an author.

Books by the authors who virtually visit our classrooms will be available for purchase.

*We hope you'll consider purchasing some for your home library. To learn more about the books each grade will be reading, and how to purchase them- click here.
