Back to school routines are not always fun for kids. Beginning now may help to make mornings less stressful and set your student up for success as they begin their learning day at school. Here is a link from Understood.org to help with morning routines.

Did You Know?

Many students have sensory needs. These needs may be misdiagnosed or overlooked. Kids in Motion is a Pediatric Therapy Service that has offered a great resource for calming or alerting activities for six of the sensory systems.

Collaboration Corner

This past week did not have any questions submitted.
